IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Pacific Asia Museum Announces
Raga Unveiled: India's Voice
A Pacific Asia Museum Film Event

Pasadena, CA: August 25, 2010 – Pacific Asia Museum presents Raga Unveiled: India's Voice on Thursday, September 9, 2010 from 6pm – 10pm. This film event reception will feature some of the region's best Indian food courtesy of Tanzore Restaurant, and a live musical performance by Dr. Seema Hanamsagar, Hemant Ekbote and Gopal Marathe. At 8pm Raga Unveiled will be screened under the stars in the Pacific Asia Museum courtyard. Following the screening, director Gita Desai will discuss the film and answer questions.

The legendary musicians, Vedic scholars, musicologists, spectacular cinematography and rare archival footage of Raga Unveiled beautifully describe the philosophy and structure of the ancient Vedic tradition that is the basis not only of Raga but of life. Director Gita Desai has always viewed traditional Indian culture and art in all its manifestations with the utmost reverence. From India's philosophical ideas to its food, music and dance, Gita sets out to make films that would capture the richness and sophistication of ancient Indian culture.

Tickets are $50, and reservations required. RSVP 626.449.2742, ext. 28 or email j.lin@pacificasiamuseum.org. Raga Unveiled is part of the 2010 Festival of the Autumn Moon celebration of A Night at the Taj. Proceeds from Raga Unveiled benefit the museum's many educational programs and innovative exhibitions.
